DESCRIPTION:

Recalling one's own tradition does not mean foregoing innovation. Today Mastroberardino is one of the most advanced syntheses of technical competence in the field. Nevertheless, the application of this competence doesn't aim to change the fundamental nature and characteristics of the ancient wines, but to preserve their existence and value, and to harmonize them with the evolution of schemes and ideas which represent a distinctive mark of wine tasting.

TASTING NOTES:

"A dry and aromatic red, with accents of cured tobacco and pencil shavings to the flavors of baked raspberry, licorice snap and tarry smoke. Well-knit and balanced, this is full-bodied, with dense tannins firming the finish. Give this some time in the cellar to shine."
