DESCRIPTION:

Recalling one's own tradition does not mean foregoing innovation. Today Mastroberardino is one of the most advanced syntheses of technical competence in the field. Nevertheless, the application of this competence doesn't aim to change the fundamental nature and characteristics of the ancient wines, but to preserve their existence and value, and to harmonize them with the evolution of schemes and ideas which represent a distinctive mark of wine tasting.

TASTING NOTES:

"Fresh and well-balanced, with brambly berry and Damson plum fruit underscored by hints of ground anise, light herb, smoke and salumi. Crowd-pleasing and easy-sipping." Alison Napjus ~ Web only 2014
