DESCRIPTION:

The Medici winery, has been producing a top-of-the-range Lambrusco and many other quality wines for over a century. Remigio founded a wine cellar in the late nineteenth century, with the aim of making the most of the family vineyards, located between the Via Emilia and the first of the hills in the Enza valley. Today the company owns 60 hectares of land spread out among the finest viticultural areas in the Emilia-Romagna region.

TASTING NOTES:

“Pretty aromas of crushed berries and rose petals follow through to a medium body, a soft and frothy palate and a clean finish. Dry aftertaste. Delicious.”
